ATF Medical Successfully Completes SOC 1® Type 2 Examination

ATF Medical reports on controls relevant to its users' internal control over financial reporting for its workers' compensation claim assistance services.

Newnan, GA — May 2026 — ATF Medical, a nationally recognized provider of integrated workers' compensation care solutions, today announced the successful completion of its SOC 1® Type 2 examination for its Workers' Compensation Claim Assistance services. The examination was conducted by AssurancePoint, LLC and evaluated the design and operating effectiveness of controls related to services that may impact customers' internal control over financial reporting.

The SOC 1® Type 2 examination assessed controls related to customer setup and fulfillment, customer account maintenance, transaction authorization, account balances, information security, and data backup and availability over a specified review period.

SOC 1® reports are independent attestation reports designed to help organizations evaluate controls at a service organization that may be relevant to user entities' internal control over financial reporting. These reports provide customers and their auditors with valuable insight into the systems, processes, and controls supporting the services they rely on.

“Completing our SOC 1® Type 2 examination reflects ATF Medical’s ongoing commitment to operational excellence, accountability, and trust,” said Susan Nelson, Chief Executive Officer, President, and Co-Owner of ATF Medical. “Our clients depend on us to support some of the most complex and sensitive workers' compensation claims in the industry. This milestone reinforces our dedication to maintaining strong internal controls and delivering dependable, high-quality service.”

The successful completion of the SOC 1® Type 2 examination further demonstrates ATF Medical’s commitment to continuous improvement, data integrity, and disciplined operational processes that support its clients and partners across the workers' compensation ecosystem.

Founded in 2001, ATF Medical specializes in rehab technology, adaptive housing, catastrophic care coordination, and clinical support services for catastrophic and complex injury claims. The company partners with insurers, TPAs, adjusters, nurse
